CHARLOTTE W. NEWCOMBE SCHOLARSHIP

Purpose:

The Charlotte W. Newcombe Foundation offers scholarships to women 25 and older who have completed half the credits required for their degrees. Moravian College is one of a limited number of colleges selected by the Foundation to offer these scholarships. Women whose education has been interrupted by marriage and family responsibilities or by work will receive special consideration. Academic performance is also important.

Who is eligible?

Women who are (1) over 25 years of age (2) candidates for a baccalaureate degree or for post-baccalaureate professional certification, (3) have earned at least half of the course units required in their degree or certificate program, and (4) eligible for financial aid. Both part-time and full-time students are eligible.

The need for scholarships will be based on the individual woman's successful completion of the equivalent of two years of college education, evidence of self motivation, the lack of available cash-flow to support college expenses, and the woman's need to work to support herself and her family and pay for her college education. Special consideration will be given to women whose assets are non-liquid; who could not handle emergency financial burdens within their family without dropping out of school; who are partially eligible or not eligible for other forms of aid but who still do not have enough funds to continue their studies; who are low-income women seeking careers; who are the sole-support of their families; or who have no access to their husband's income.

Recipients of the scholarships will be expected to correspond with the Foundation while they are receiving assistance and to participate in graduation ceremonies.

How to Apply: (Check off items as they are completed):

_____ Submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) online at www.fafsa.gov.

_____ Have transcript(s) of any prior college work sent to Moravian College. These documents are usually part of the application for admission. If they have already been submitted, there is no need for duplication.

_____ All applicants should complete the application form and essay, and submit to a Student Experience Mentor in Benigna Hall. We will contact you to set up an interview, if necessary or desired.

Basis for Selection:

Selection is based on financial need, the application essay, and the personal interview (if needed).

Uses for award:

The scholarship may be used to cover tuition, fees, and textbooks required by the course(s).

Review of applications will be conducted on a rolling basis. Priority in making awards and preparing financial aid packages will be given to individuals whose scholarship application and all other financial aid documentation has been submitted before June 1 each year.
