MONICA BILL BARNES & COMPANY: THE RUNNING SHOW – BEHIND THE SCENES OF THE WORK IN PROGRESS

A seven-year-old falls in love with dance; at 40 she practices every day to stay in the game; at 70 she keeps moving. This fall, Monica Bill Barnes is working with an ensemble of dancers in the Lehigh Valley ranging in age from 12 to 75. Through virtual movement classes and interviews, Barnes and documentary theater artist Robbie Saenz de Viteri teach the choreography and capture the dancers' stories. It's an unprecedented look at the life of a dancer in this behind-the-scenes making of The Running Show, prior to the work's 2021 debut at Lafayette College.

Tickets: $15, general admission for livestream access, available at williamscenter.lafayette.edu

COMPAGNIA TPO

Visual, emotional, tactile, immersive ... In TPO, creation coincides with an interactive scenery. Using digital design all sets become "sensitive environments" – wherein continuous crossfades between art and play can be experienced. Dancers, performers and the audience share the stage and find a common ground of enjoyment beyond cultural and language barriers. Each artwork is designed to dialogue with players in motion, individual dancers or children. Images and sounds interface with the moving bodies on stage, transforming live gestures and virtual landscapes into a charming interactive art environment.
