Traditional Private Instruction

For most people, private study is the heart of their musical training. MCMI offers lessons on many instruments and in various areas of musical study to students of all ages and levels, regardless of previous training or experience. Lessons are 45 minutes in length and taken as a set of 14. Special requests for 30- minute or 60-minute lessons may be granted pending consultation with the teacher. Payment options are noted on the registration form.

14 60-minute lessons - $1016
14 45-minute lessons - $760
14 30-minute lessons - $515

Suzuki Private Instruction

The method known as Suzuki was developed by Shinichi Suzuki for teaching young children. The philosophy of the program of study is that talent and musicianship can be learned by any child. The method requires parental participation in each lesson and in home practice. No prior experience with the Suzuki method or with music is required of either the parent or the child. Suzuki lessons are available for Cello, Piano, and Violin. Lessons are 30, 45 and 60 minutes in length and taken as a set of 16. Payment options are noted on the registration form.

16 60-minute lessons - $1161
16 45-minute lessons - $869
16 30-minute lessons - $589

Private, individual instruction is focused on the art and practice of an instrument or voice, with emphasis on tone quality, technique, rhythm, interpretation, and literature.

- Students taking lessons must have an instrument on which to practice regularly.
